Jakymchuck Achieves NMSC Merit Letter

By Mariann Nowack

A National Merit Scholarship Letter of Commendation was presented to Daria Jakymchuk, 7-6, at the opening assembly of the fall term by Dr. Forsheit.

Daria received the Letter of Commendation for her outstanding rating on the three hour National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. The examination was given last March to high school juniors throughout the United States desiring to qualify for the National Merit Scholarship.

The students who did well on the exam were divided into two groups: commended students and semifinalists. These students together constitute about two per cent of all high school seniors.

The semifinalists can compete in a second examination which will further uncover their ability to obtain Merit Scholarships.

The commended students, who are ineligible to obtain Merit Scholarships, receive Letters of Commendation to act as initiative for working and developing their abilities.

Through the NMSC, the two colleges named by the commended students as their possible choices will be informed of their scores. This is done

Bushwick Center Offers Varied Night Courses

By Robert Berger

Bushwick's new Youth and Adult Center has made available for adults, eighteen years and older, a varied schedule of courses.

The classes, which are being held Monday through Friday from 7:45 to 9:45, are in the following fields: Spanish, French and Italian, beginning and advanced stenography, typing and business machines, high school equivalency, Civil Service preparation, business arithmetic, merchandising, art, music, current events, slimnastics, life saving, social and folk dancing and contract bridge.

The registration fees are from $2.50 to $3.00 and the student is allowed to take as many as four courses although he is recommended to take only two for the best results.

There has been much publicity of this project through the radio and circulars. Mr. Harry Greenberg, principal of the center, says, "Sixteen classes have been formed as of this week. By January, we hope to have twice as many classes as this semester."

Bushwick Assembly Schedule Begins With G.O. Presentations

By Claudia Uhl

The General Organization of Bushwick High School sponsored the first of a schedule of assemblies for the fall term, October 9 and 16.

The new G.O. officers, President Robert Berger, Vice President Alexis Rivera, Secretary Esther Lespier, along with the Student Council and Miss Egan of the English Department, presented a skit portraying the vital role of the G.O. in all phases of school life.

After the presentation of the skit, Robert awarded posters with gold and silver stars to those classes which earned 100 per cent G.O. membership before September 27 and October 11, respectively.

The last presentations were for scholarship. Students who attained an average of 90 per cent or higher received a scholarship letter or pin.

in an effort to increase the student's opportunity upon entrance to the college. Also, those who do not win Merit Scholarships may be qualified for other scholarships made possible by the NMSC.

The NMSC has proved a worthy organization, and through the efforts of foundations, unions, colleges, trusts, business corporations, professional associations and private individuals has at present aided nearly 7,500 scholars.

5 Bushwick Seniors Cop Lincoln Center Awards

By Frank Majerle

The Lincoln Center Student Award was recently earned by five Bushwick seniors: Ronald Corrado, 7-1, John Giarratano, 7-8, Sonja Kobylko, 7-3, Claudia Uhl, 7-7, and Priscilla Vazquez, 7-8.

The awards offer these students the opportunity to attend concerts and lectures on 18th and 19th century music, given by famous musicians and composers from all over the world at Lincoln Center.

They were given the award on the basis of scholarship in their regular school studies, character and especially for their interest in music.

Ronald has an avid interest in music and is a member of the All-City Chorus for his second year. His major interest though lies in the field of dramatics, which he intends to major in at Adelphi College after his graduation in June. Ron is also a member of Senior Arista.

John, who received his award through his membership in the orchestra, hopes to attend Pratt Institute next year where he will major in chemistry.

Sonja, a violinist in the orchestra, sees her future as either a language teacher or an interpreter; she speaks both French and German. Her extracurricular activities are varied, as she is a member of not only the Senior Arista, but also of the Trinity and Future Teachers clubs.

Claudia, who played the piano for both the Mixed, Girls' and the Boys' choruses for three years, aspires to be a home economics teacher. Since she prefers the country to the city, she is hoping to attend Oneonta State Teachers' College, upstate New York, where she would eventually like to

10 Bushwickites Make All-City Chorus

By Kenneth Prill

Ten Bushwick students have succeeded in singing their way into membership of this year's All-City High Schools Chorus. Six of the All-City members are veterans, the remaining four are new to the chorus.

Those who succeeded in becoming members are: sopranos Connie Salvado, 7-9, and Betty Schuit, 7-6; first Alto Gilda Fasullo, 7-9; and second alto Florence Johnson, 5-1.

Seven of Bushwick's ten members of the All-City Chorus tune up for a busy season.

Boy choristers include: first tenors Joseph Guilintano, 4-3, and Gregory Futchi, 4-6; second tenors Ronald Corrado, 7-1, and Frank Hanrahan, 7-9; and first basses Herman Scott, 6-5, and Frank Zampedri, 7-7. Gilda, Joseph, Florence, and Herman are the new members to the All-City Chorus.

The chorus, which was seen on television this past term, is conducted by Dr. Wilhousky, a chairman of the Music Department of New York City schools.

Bushwick now ranks as one of the top schools in the City in terms of musical achievement, being the largest contributor, percentage wise, of any New York City high school.

The eighteen students in Bushwick's three choruses who went down to the auditions were first screened by Mrs. Gittleman of our Music Department, along with many other pupils. Then application cards were given out, and candidates went for their audition. They were matched against

I.A. Luncheon Offered For Hopeful Teachers

The "Future Teachers of Industrial Arts" luncheon conference will be held at the High School of Printing, Tuesday, November 16.

Each year Bushwick sends a large group of interested students to this affair. The Industrial Arts Department is now accepting applications from any student, boy or girl, desiring to attend the conference.

Interest in Shop and Drafting

The only requirements are that the student has an interest in becoming a teacher of shop work and/or drafting, and that he has an average of 75 per cent or better in his school work.

Interested students can get further details from Mr. Steinberg, chairman of the Industrial Arts Department, in Room 409.

hundreds of other students from almost every New York City high school. The competition was keen, but Bushwick managed to come out on top.

In the past, Bushwick's All-City members have been seen performing in the choruses, as well as singing solos and duets at assemblies, P.T.S.A. meetings, and other school functions.

Guarisco and Futchi Place In Links Talent Competition

By Marie Colicchio

Joyce Guarisco, 7-3, and Gregory Futchi, 4-6, competing with a large group of Brooklyn high school students, were recently notified that they are winners in the Brooklyn Chapter of Links competition for drama and singing.

Joyce achieved honorable mention for her own interpretation of two monologues. She polished her dramatic talents in Bushwick's honor dramatics class.

Joyce intends to major in dramatics in one of the State universities. At present her other interests involve being a Junior Red Cross Representative and a member of the cheerleading squad.

In another field of the arts, Gregory Futchi brought honors to Bushwick by taking third place in the singing competition. He was audi-

Earth Science Classes Venture on Field Trip

By Betty Bischoff

Mr. Krane and forty-five of his earth science students took a field trip to Lake Monhok, in the Catskill area, Tuesday, October 8.

The venture began with a brief tour of the surrounding area. The guide pointed out fossils and scratchings in the rocks made from glaciers. The students had been studying this topic before the trip.

The guide discussed the origin of the lake which was formed by a glacier. The glacier also gorged out the Rondout Valley in the Catskills.

The students then climbed to the peak of Sky Top Cliff. From a fire observatory there, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey were all visible. The tower observer offered the use of his binoculars and showed the students the method used to spot fires.

The group also explored a dark narrow cave in the mountain-side using small wooden ladders to climb to the different levels.

Following the climb, the students had their lunch in a lodge at the lake and then began their trip home.

tioned for quality of voice and potential singing abilities.

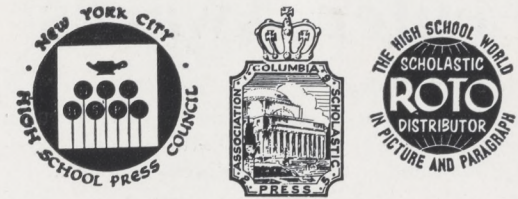

In Bushwick Gregory has been a member of the boys' chorus where he has been given much help and a chance to perform with the chorus in numerous musical assembly programs. Greg is also a member of the All-City Chorus for the second year.

Brenda Lee, a June 1963 graduate, also received honorable mention for her singing talents.

Joyce and Gregory, along with other winners, were honored at the Brooklyn Links Third Salute to Youth Luncheon, October 26, at the Park Sheraton Hotel. Joyce acted as MC at the luncheon.

A chance to perform in a theatrical production sometime during the coming year, along with a certificate for both, plus a ten dollar check for Joyce, were the students' awards.

"Fair Play"

Many of us have heard the expression "fair play." Whether it be applied to a friendly game of chess among friends or a competitive game of prize fighting between opponents, fair play is essential and important to each individual involved.

Fair play is also a necessity in the every day routine of going to school. It should be carried out by both students and teachers alike.

But do the students and teachers of Bushwick abide by the code of fair play? Look around you. Form your own opinion. It all depends upon your interpretation of fair play.

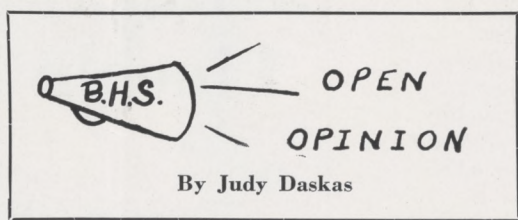

A student violates the code most obviously by cheating. If a student does not abide by the rules of fair play this way, he is really cheating himself and is not in actuality gaining anything for he still hasn't learned or earned anything. He has only stolen.

Another way in which a student cheats himself is by trying to gain a mark he doesn't really deserve. This is done by doing special favors for the teacher in an attempt to gain special consideration. Students should understand that it is all well and good to help their teachers as much as possible but it is a breach of fair play if students expect preferential treatment.

But we must also consider the results of a teacher going against fair play. One of the most outstanding examples of this is when a teacher shows favoritism towards a student or a group of students.

The effects of showing favoritism on the part of a teacher are many. First, the teacher is endangering the opinion other students have of him. No student likes to feel slighted and this is exactly what happens. Secondly, the teacher is cheating the student whom favoritism is shown to. For example, just as if a student cheated himself, he is receiving a mark which was not actually deserved. Thirdly, the teacher is hindering the student socially. Many friends may resent the favoritism shown and turn against the student favored.

Students and teachers, take heed. Instead of looking around, let's look at ourselves. You may find that you are going against the code of fair play.

QUESTION: "Being a new occupant of the corridors and classrooms of Bushwick High, what is your opinion of our school?"

Phyllis Mastrianni, 3-1

Compared to junior high school, Bushwick is very exciting and full of new experiences.

The system of classes and studies is altogether different. I've found that the guidance counselors try to help us in every possible way.

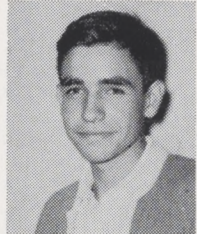

Each class brings many new faces. As I go up and down the stairs, in and out of rooms, and bump into others in the halls, I've really met a great number of new friends.

I've found Bushwick's library to be very convenient. Its shelves are full of books I need for my different subjects.

I think we should be proud of Bushwick. We have a fine school and all students, new and old, should join in to keep it that way.

Nicholas Barraco, 3-1

My first days at Bushwick were, naturally, very confusing until I became accustomed to my new classes. As I became acquainted with my teachers, I discovered that most of them take a genuine interest in the students and are willing to help them whenever they are confronted with problems.

The students are also very helpful, especially when it concerns orientation. Bushwick has modern facilities and offers varied courses and subjects.

Even though I have been in Bushwick only several weeks, I am very confident that my years in this school will be fruitful and happy ones.

Linda Gibbins, 3-3

Being a new student of the school, I have various opinions of it, both likes and dislikes. One thing I don't like is the way the corridors are situated. They're too narrow and crowded. Sometimes I can't get to some of my classes on time.

Another thing I dislike is the struggle of getting up and down the staircases because of the pushing crowds. One good thing about the stairs are the up and down signs. With these, the students usually all go one way at one time.

The thing that I really like about the school is the gym. Its enormous size fascinates me and I like the idea of our own gym lockers.

Thomas Zuber, 3-4

My first few days at Bushwick were a disappointment. My program allows less than five hours of free time into which I must fit homework assignments. These assignments are somewhat lighter in comparison with those I received in junior high.

What I found to be most confusing is the disciplinary measures used by the teachers. Within one week, I found that pink cards are given for everything from losing a program card to assault and battery. There are no degrees of punishment, and I have noticed the effect upon the student's fear of the consequences. There is none!

Yet, first impressions are always quick ones and often not lasting. The students are compatible and hardly meet the reputation that I was warned about.

HONOR ROLL CORRECTIONS

Sophie Braccioforte, 5-7, achieved an average of 93.2 last term. Her name was omitted from the honor roll list.

Jeanette Santopietro, 3-13, attained an average of 86. Her name had been confused on the list.

As you walk into Room 523, you are apt to see students working diligently at a baffling problem involving the use of triangles, T-squares, rulers, compasses, and a long list of other paraphernalia. At the front of the room is the huge teacher's desk. But where is the teacher?

The teacher is Mr. Guartafierro, who is probably at the moment somewhere in the back of the room, helping a student puzzled by mechanical drawing.

Mr. Anthony Guartafierro, popularly known to his students as the friendly, down-to-earth, likable Mr. G., came to Bushwick almost two years ago.

While attending Manual Training High School, now known as John Jay High School, Mr. Guartafierro had plans to become a social studies teacher. However, when he was in his senior year, he was encouraged by an Industrial Arts teacher to go on to teach Industrial Arts instead.

Wins Scholarship

Mr. Herbert Siegel, the teacher who helped Mr. Guartafierro, is now the director of Industrial Arts in the New York City schools. He helped Mr. Guartafierro win a scholarship which enabled him to go to New York University, from where he graduated in February, 1962 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

After graduation, Mr. Guartafierro began teaching at Bushwick. He has also taught at another high school; he says that he prefers our school much more. The students are more cooperative and courteous, and the facilities are much better.

Last June, Mr. Guartafierro got his master's degree from N.Y.U. At the present moment he is not going to college. He does, however, intend to study for a doctorate in education in the future.

In his free time, Mr. Guartafierro likes to work on his automobile. In addition to playing touch-tackle football, he plays basketball and has participated in the last two annual faculty-senior basketball games.

While being interviewed, the modest Mr. Guartafierro said that he was much more interested in telling the students about his subject than about himself. He is very anxious to have students know more about mechanical drawing, and what it offers.

Mr. Guartafierro feels that M.D. can contribute greatly to academic students.

Contributions of M.D.

"This is not a general course. This course can contribute greatly to academic students who wish to go on into engineering and similar fields," he says. Mr. Guartafierro points out that it is especially useful to those who have no plans for future education since after taking M.D. they have a skill which will enable them to obtain much better positions.

Mr. Guartafierro is quick to refer to the students who have saved themselves much time and effort in college by taking M.D. in high school when it was offered to them for nothing.

In the future Mr. Guartafierro would like to see more academic students, boys and girls alike, taking mechanical drawing, for which they can get major credit.

"Next Stop College"

The problems relating to college admission, a matter of major concern to students, parents, and teachers, is the subject of a new radio series "Next Stop: College," which began Sunday, October 6, on WABC.

The program is being produced by WABC-Radio in association with New York University and will be broadcast weekly from 11:00 to 11:25 A.M.

Dr. Fred E. Crossland, dean of admissions at NYU, will act as host. Participating with him each week will be Arnold L. Goren, assistant dean of admissions at NYU, and a guest admissions officer from another college or institution.

"The problems of college admission," states Dr. Crossland, "are increasingly complicated and difficult. As a result, the public has been unduly frightened by a good deal of nonsense and pressing of the panic button. Our object in presenting this program is to give practical, realistic information which will help to reduce the existing confusion and to supplement the very good work being done by the secondary school guidance counselors."

We suggest that every one having a question about college admission listen to this informative program. Your questions might be answered while at the same time you may gain additional information to enable you to make a wide choice of college.

The College Newsletter of October stated that the college office had not as yet received applications for municipal colleges. These have now been received and distributed. These applications, as well as private college applications, will be collected November 13. Seniors, please make sure that you hand in your applications on time.

Oriole Wins First Place In Columbia Press Awards

By Penny Nelson

Among the honors recently received by Bushwick has been added a first place award won by the Oriole from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This is the fourth consecutive year in which our school yearbook has received the award.

The theme of the 1963 Oriole was "Our Town — Brooklyn." It showed the connection between Bushwick and Brooklyn. The editors, who worked so assiduously to produce last year's Oriole, were Carol Daly, editor-in-chief, Jacqueline Mayer, literary editor, Rosalie Bello, senior editor, and Robert Eckstein and Maria Loew, layout editors.

The yearbooks of the New York City high schools are judged on the handling of the theme, the format, the photography and the literary style. Each one of these is allotted a certain number of points, which when tallied are the basis of the association's judgment.

This year, Miss Halligan, the faculty adviser, will be recruiting new members early in November. During this time she will hold the first staff meeting and start the initial training period for next year's book.

It is significant that the first two school newspapers to arrive in the Publication Office this term have a tenuous connection to the BULLETIN.

Van Buren's newspaper, the Bee Line, has for its adviser Mr. Raymond Marcus, Mr. McKeen's predecessor as adviser for the BULLETIN.

The Chaparral, from the college of the Desert in California, has for its copy editor Judy Diamond, last year's editor-in-chief of the BULLETIN. Judy has taken a big step on the road to a future in professional journalism.

"School Participation Trophies" will be awarded to individual homerooms at St. Aloysius H.S. in New Orleans. This contest has a double goal: to foster and encourage school spirit, and to recognize individual classrooms for the spirit they have shown. Our own G.O. membership posters serve a similar purpose.

Because of the sharp reduction in the student body, the students at Taft High School now must pay G.O. dues of two dollars. So take note, Bushwickites, and the next time you are asked for your twenty-five cents, don't hesitate, just give!

teach. Besides being a member of the chorus, Claudia also belongs to the Senior Arista, the Future Teachers Club and is the first page editor of the BULLETIN.

Priscilla, also a long standing member of Bushwick's choruses, plans to attend the State University College of Buffalo, where she hopes to major in journalism and psychology. She has many interests, but above all she enjoys her piano lessons and reading. Priscilla is also an honor student and a feature writer on the BULLETIN.

By Patricia Sciacca Teachers Congress

The Teachers Congress will be held at St. John's University on November 11. All interested students from the Future Teachers Club and Arista will attend.

Youth Forum

The local youth forum was held at George Wingate High School, Monday, October 28, and was sponsored by the Herald Tribune. Six neighborhood high schools participated in the competitive program.

Frank Majerle, 7-2, was chosen to represent Bushwick in this 40-minute panel-type program. The topic of discussion was "What are the needs of the United States in the years ahead?"

The faculty advisers of the six competing schools met afterwards to choose a regional winner, who has not yet been announced, to compete in the national competition. The nation-wide winner will represent the United States on a European tour during the summer of 1964.

Red Cross Opens Annual Drive

By Elaine Sincavage

Once again the annual Red Cross Christmas drive is underway. The purpose of this drive is to spread the joy of Christmas to those less fortunate than ourselves who will be spending Christmas in the hospital.

As usual, each student will be given the opportunity to donate a small gift through his official class and to work on gifts in other classes.

This year the clothing construction classes, under the supervision of Miss Salzman, are dressing dolls. Members of the boys' woodworking shops are making toys and games. These dolls and toys will be distributed to children who live in orphan homes.

Each official class has been given two Christmas stockings to fill. One should contain articles that can be used by either a man or a woman. The second should contain articles that will bring joy to a small child.

Last term, Miss Salzman, the Junior Red Cross adviser, received a thank you note from a man who had been given a gift stocking filled by Bushwick students. This alone should inspire us to fill as many stockings as possible.

Creative Corner

The BULLETIN appreciates the contributions of the students to Creative Corner. Keep 'em coming.

Pleasant Hill

Mine is a place of splendor in the spring. It is a somewhere that God put there for the sole purpose of serene thought. It is an example of his creativity.

From the verdent trees which shade my head from the ruthless sun, to the view at the top, which imparts unto me the impression of being me, there is a certain greatness. This greatness, transitory as it may be, I want to retain for myself only.

There is a fallen tree which looks as though it was placed there just to pillow my head when I cry out against the world in desolation. Its spongy green grass softens the hardness and the cruelty of the world.

It is here on Pleasant Hill that I am afforded the peacefulness that only God can give. It is a place where I can reflect upon mine and the world's troubles. I cannot always find solutions, but I always leave here with more courage in my heart.

When I come to Pleasant Hill there is an indefinable feeling that God's hand has just touched it; His feet tread on the path I now take. This is why, when I am troubled, I fly to my hill, Pleasant Hill, to be calmed and soothed.

Hate

I hate! And with this reason-denied burden

My soul dies within me.

I hate! And this all consuming demon Alters my spirit and creates a being So unlike man, that dogs cringe At the very sight.

Yet still my heart will question,

Why? O Heaven why?

What is it I hate so fervently, so wholly?

And my mind can find no answer

For there is none . . .

None to lend light to a darkened soul Or give reason to a tired heart.

A Tower of Babel

So many bricks, God, and it towers so, so tall!

There from the bared chest of the tawny earth it rises, bricks upon bricks.

Man climbs so high and looking down and out through his sotty and bloodshot eyes again claims his earth, his cataclysmic legacy.

Infants burn, rose petals burn, gold and wire together burn, burning to bake bricks.

Then, from behind all industrial smog bursts the sun—a swell of awe from the daisies of the field—and so, again, the greatest burner re-asserts his supremacy.

P.T.S.A. Acquaints New Members With Bushwick

By Penny Nelson

The first Parents Teachers Students Association meeting of the new fall term took place in the auditorium, October 18. Its primary purpose was to help the parents who were new to the organization get acquainted with Bushwick.

Mrs. Catharine Rivera, president of the association, introduced the newly elected officers. They include Mrs. Angeli, vice-president, Mrs. Pinzone, secretary and Mrs. Oddo, treasurer. Mrs. Rivera discussed the P.T.S.A.'s partaking in the mental health project now underway.

Dr. Forsheit viewed the past accomplishments of the P.T.S.A. He also mentioned the work being done at present to "make an even better Bushwick." In closing he pointed out one of the major problems of our school is the lack of parking facilities.

Mr. Jackson of the Art Department entertained the audience with an excellent piano recital.

The Embers, a four piece combo, played a few well received selections, which included the ever popular "Summertime."

The principal of the Bushwick night school, Mr. Greenberg, described the courses available to all adults, eighteen years of age and over.

150 Bushwickites Enjoy Twelfth Night

The New York Shakespeare Festival production of Twelfth Night was attended by 150 Bushwick students at Clara Barton Vocational High School, October 31.

The students from the senior English classes and the journalism and dramatics classes were accompanied by Miss Druss, Mr. Faber, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. McKinley and Mr. McKeen.

The play, produced by Mr. Joseph Papp, is one of Shakespeare's most popular comedies.

In the play a girl named Viola, who assumes her twin brother Sebastian to be drowned, is ship wrecked off the coast of Illyria.

She therefore employs herself in a man's disguise. In her male attire she becomes a messenger and attracts the affection of the neighboring Countess Olivia.

In addition to this Viola's "lost" twin brother reappears. However, time fortunately unravels the complications and all ends well.

Array of Fall Fashions Reveal The New Look

The newest ideas in fashions are the textured handbags of alligator, lizard, saffian, pin seal, and the traditional leather.

For the fashion conscious teenager, there is the plaid and leather reversible coat. There are also the three-quarter checked coats.

The fabulous two to three piece suits for this season come in the colors of beige, pink, green, lilac, and light blue. The various tweeds are rich in their style and color.

The mohair and ban-lon sweaters that have been very popular are now here in the colors, cranberry, salmon pink, camel, and ivory.

The shoes are in the new "sleek" Italian style, with the "body" of the shoe being very narrow and the heel contouring slimly from the "body."

But no matter which you are, the fashions are stunning, appealing and not necessarily expensive. So look your best in the new leathers, plaids, tweeds, checks and bright colors of this season.

Press Council Meeting Held At Overseas Club

The first meeting of the High School Press Council took place Wednesday, October 23, at the Overseas Press Club. Joanne Monaco, 7-1, editor-in-chief of the BULLETIN, and two members of the journalism class, Helen Bukowiecki, 5-4, and Jeanne LoPinto, 5-2, represented Bushwick at the meeting.

Dr. Slotkin Addresses Council

President Anne Gambino of Julia Richmond High School and Vice-President Eric Spector of DeWitt Clinton High School presided. The guest speaker, Dr. Aaron Slotkin, coordinator of curriculum periodicals for the Board of Education and managing editor of its publication, Strengthening Democracy, spoke on the topic, "Can the High School Press

Be Free?" The panel of high school editors presented their views on this question.

Mr. Simon is Adviser

Adviser to the committee is Mr. Louis Simon whose responsibility is to formulate the Council policies, coordinate journalism contests and plan and direct all meetings. It also gives an award to the metropolitan newspaper which gives the best coverage of juvenile decency.

Tigers Win Division Title Third Consecutive Time

TIGER ALLEY

By Gustavo Grande

The "Flying Tigers," Bushwick's soccer team, have won their sixth alltime, and third consecutive, divisional title by defeating Hamilton High School for their seventh straight victor of this season. This qualifies the undefeated booters to play the Bronx champs in the quarter-finals of the PSAL New York City Championship.

Booters Defeat Erasmus, 3-1

Dr. Forsheit opened the soccer season for Bushwick at our home field by kicking out the first ball. The booters made a strong Erasmus team look weak and disorganized. Legler scored two goals, and Kenneth Dest scored one for the Tigers. The whole Bushwick team played a fine game and they deserve great praise.

Bushwick Beats Midwood, 4-2

The second game was played at Prospect Park. At the end of the first half, our team was leading 4-0. Midwood came through in the second half against the Tiger reserves and scored two goals. Bushwick's goals were made by William Gabburt, Anthony Chiello, Gerd Rudolf Legler, and Emanuele Tavormina.

Black and Orange Takes Boys, 4-0

Back in our own field, the Tigers had an easy victory against Boys High. After the first half it was 3-0 Bushwick. One more goal was added in the second half. Chiello, Dest, Legler, and Rupert Brown scored the points.

Tigers Blank Automotive, 3-0

A weak Automotive defense enabled our forward and halfback lines to keep possession of the ball most of the time. The strong performance of Bushwick's offense was highlighted by Chiello who scored the three Tiger goals.

Coach Cohen reviews plays with the soccer team.

Bushwick Smashes Wingate, 4-0

For the third consecutive time, the Tigers maintained the opposition from scoring. This game was another easy victory for the booters. The scorers were Legler, with two points, Gabburt and Chiello, with one each.

E.N.Y. Bows to Flying Tigers, 4-0

In the second road game of the season, our booters once again blanked the adversary. Scorers were Gabburt, Frank Heron, and Chiello. The lead was strengthened in the final minutes of the game when one of E.N.Y.'s players tallied a "self goal." This gave the Tigers 15 straight goals over the last four games without the opposition scoring once.

Comment

Although not as strong as last year's, this season's soccer team is one to be respected and feared by the opposition. The strength of the team lies in the halfback line, where Brown is doing such a great job. The rest of the offense, the forwards, also presents strength due to the work of Legler and Chiello. Coach Cohen can be described as meticulous, strict, formal, and knowledgeable. All of this has paid off.

The games played so far by the Tigers have been surprisingly easy wins. The reason for this could be that even though the Bushwick team has been hard-hit by the absence of many good players who have graduated from our school, the same problem is probably more acute on the opposing teams. Also, the booters have had a great deal of luck in the games played so far. It would seem that many of the Tiger goals scored against the competition this year would not have been scored against the same competition of last year. The weakness of the opposition is also shown by the fact that the opposing teams have been kept from scoring in the last four of six division games by our weak, inexperienced defense, while the great veteran defense of last year, composed of fullback Philippe Buccelato and Anthony Mulé, along with goalkeeper Peter Matijeio, all of whom graduated from Bushwick last June, managed to shut out the opposition only twice in seven division games.

Mr. Cohen feels that while this defense, composed of goalie Anthony Anello, and fullbacks Irwin Sternberg and Walter Schoel-nast, is inexperienced in comparison to last year's players, it has done a commendable job in preventing the opposition from scoring.

Gymnast Club

Joe Rodriguez, a newcomer from Boys High, of class 4-3 has inspired Mr. Diamond to form a gymnast club. Rodriguez, an all around gymnast, specializes in the high bar but is an expert in the parallel bar as well.

Rodriquez, who is well built and extremely coordinated, attributes his expertness to constant practice and determination. Some of the moves on the horizontal bar consist of very difficult routines which require strength and balance as is the case with the giant. The giant is a move where the performer mounts the bar and does a handstand; from this position he completes a circle coming back to the original handstand position. But before attempting such difficult moves, he uses a special resin, magnesium carbonate, to secure a firm grip and prevent any slipping.

For further information about the gymnast club you can consult Mr. Diamond in the Health Education Office, Room 116.

Isometrics

With the increasing emphasis by President Kennedy on national physical fitness, the Health Education Department of Bushwick has employed isometric exercises for the building up of maximum strength.

Isometrics are exercises that put stress and strain on muscle fibers without the contraction of the muscle itself. The equipment used in isometrics is very inexpensive and can be used in the place of weight lifting. The equipment used may be a wall, parallel bars or other immovable object.

Isometrics itself or coupled with weight lifting now gives an opportunity for all the members of a gym class to participate in body building.

Bowling

The bowling team, coached by Mr. Goldman, is optimistic about the coming season. The team consists of many new players as well as last year's veterans.

There was intense competition during the try-outs which were held in the beginning of October. The survivors of this competition were rewarded by having a place on Bushwick's bowling team. The try-outs were held at Marco Lanes where Bushwick will play its home games.

Some of the players who compose this year's team are: Salvatore Agli-loro, John Gerardi, Richard Heng-lein, Ron Lesperance, Ben Marino, Angelo Ponzo and James Vigilante.

Seniors!

Recently many seventh and eighth termers were puzzled by the failure of gym on their report cards. The Health Education Department wants to notify all seventh termers that a medical note as well as a dental under treatment note is required for the passing of gym. For eighth termers you must have a dental completion note to graduate.

Leaders Club

A Leaders Club is expected to be organized shortly. The main purpose of this club will be to provide assistance to the swimming teachers so that more time could be spent by them in carrying on their classes. The Leaders Club will also present interesting exhibitions and demonstrations of precision swimming.

Harriers 9th In Brooklyn

Since the developmental meet Bushwick's harriers have competed in four major cross country meets in which Bushwick has fared well.

N.Y.U. Meet

In the N.Y.U. meet Bushwick finished 10 out of 22 schools in Brooklyn with two of our varsity runners, Anthony Pellicane and Nick Barraco, not participating.

Rogan Hits 14:38

In the St. John's Meet at Van Cortlandt Park, Saturday, October 12, Gordon Rogan ran the 2½ mile cross country course in 14 minutes and 38 seconds and finished second to Ted D'Amico on the varsity squad. In the meet Bushwick finished 20 out of 52 schools from the metropolitan area and neighboring states.

Fordham Meet

In the Fordham Meet which was held at Van Cortlandt Park, Saturday, October 19, Bushwick had its poorest showing. Contributing factors for the poor showing were the absence of Roman Lomnyckyj, injuries of some of the varsity runners and the condition of the course which was extremely dry.

Brooklyn Championships

In the most important track meet of the season Bushwick out of 22 Brooklyn schools finished ninth with a team score of 236, just 3 points behind Jefferson. The winning school in the event was Wingate with Boys High second and E. N. Y. third. The winning time was 13 minutes, 21 seconds posted by Orlando Martinez of Hamilton High School. As far as Bushwick's performance was concerned it was disappointing. All the varsity runners, without exception, were not within their best time by 18 or more seconds and some were off by over 30 seconds. In the meet the varsity team finished as follows: Ted D'Amico 23, Rogan 41, Pellicane 53, Barraco 54, and Lomnyckyj 70.

Track Runners Wanted

The track team which has been constantly improving for the past couple of years is in need of new men that will further the development. For those interested in joining, information can be obtained from Mr. Delfyett in Room 116.
